

College of Engineering Remote Computer Labs.

Engineering students can log into our remote labs using any Internet browser.

Simply go to; <https://vdi.it.umass.edu> and log-in using your NetID and password.

If you have any issue logging in please call ECS at 413 545-1580.

Once you are logged in you will see,

For most of engineering click on “ECS General Lab” link and you will be connected to a remote computer. Currently we have 78 remote computers in the General Lab. These include computers in ELab 307 and Goessmann 155.

The “Civil Engineering” link is connected to the 16 computers that are located in Marston 23. They should only be used for the Transportation classes that are normally taught in Marston 23.

The “Mechanical Engineering” link is still being set up and should be on line soon. These will be connected to Elab 203 computers.

Please remember that these are shared computers with everyone in the College of Engineering! Please only use them for the engineering programs loaded on them. Don't use them to check your email, surf the internet, use Word/Excel/PowerPoint, or other software that can be run locally from your laptop.
